THE ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
Superintending School Committee
OF THE
TOWN OF SALEM.

• — 0 —

The work done by the schools in Salem will compare favorably with that of former years. With few exceptions the most perfect harmony has existed between the teachers and their schools. In most of the districts the teachers have been retained for two or more terms. This we consider to be an advantage so long as all parties concerned are satisfied and the teacher is thoroughly interested in his or her work. Some of the teachers have taught in the same school previous terms, and others have taught in town if not in the same districts. Great credit is due to all the teachers for earnest effort put forth by them in their work. In our report of the different districts, suggestions will be made which may be of profit to the others and should be carefully noted by all.

The school rooms on the whole have been well cared for by the local committee, some improvements have been made, but still others may be made with great advantage both to teachers and pupils. Crumbling pavements before the doors and slamming blinds outside, and broken and defaced black-boards inside, are always sources of annoyance to the teacher. Smoke is not only an annoyance, but is actually injurious to the eyes. A little more care on the part of the committee with a trifling expense would cause these annoyances to disappear.

The whole number of school children in the town between the ages of five and fifteen years as reported by the selectmen, is 226: boys, 111; girls, 115.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

This school was taught for the first two terms by Miss A. L. Flanders of Boscawen, N. H. Miss Flanders took great interest in the school, and did her best to have the children learn, but for some reason she failed to get the good will of a few of the larger pupils. She took the school under somewhat unfavorable circumstances, the district very much desiring to retain Mr. Bates, a former teacher. Her work however was entirely satisfactory to both the Prudential and Superintending committee, her second term was much more pleasant for her than her first. Good substantial work was done in both terms, as was seen by the parents and committee at the close of each term. The winter term was taught by Miss M. H. Coombs of Penacook, N. H. She was a teacher of large experience and came well recommended. The winter term of this school is in progress at the writing of this report.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

This school although small is by no means an insignificant one. The teacher for the first term was Miss Ida S. Mason, of Atkinson, N. H. It was her first school but she did well on the whole, some of the classes made very good progress, the class in the sixth reader did remarkably well, other classes did well in part. If we were to offer any criticism it would be that the teacher lacked enthusiasm in her work. The second term was taught by Miss Mary A. Haseltine of Salem. Although it was her first school she gave perfect satisfaction to all concerned.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

This school was fortunate in securing the services of Miss Anna C. Hemphill of Derry, for the whole year. Miss Hemphill has greatly endeared herself to the pupils of this school and also to the parents of the scholars as well. This school is one of the small ones as to members, yet it is one of the most advanced of any in town. Besides well advanced classes in the common branches, good classes in physiology, book-keeping and algebra have been taught and the examination in all these last named studies showed that good work had been done. The fall term was prolonged three weeks by money raised at an entertainment given by the teacher and pupils.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Miss Emma B. Gordon of Atkinson was teacher in this school for the first two terms. She showed good skill and judgment in the management of the school and in the main gave good satisfaction. A few however were dissatisfied and took their children out of school. This is never wise in parents. If there is any trouble in the school, the proper course to pursue is to have an investigation and if there is any real cause for the trouble, have the matter attended to at once. The examinations showed that good work had been done. The winter term was taught by Miss Carrie E. Thom of Salem, with the most gratifying results. The order was very good and excellent work was done in the classes. The examinations in geography, arithmetic, algebra and history were very fine. There is a peculiar intonation of voice in this school which makes it difficult to understand the scholars in their answers to questions. Miss Thom tried very hard to correct this, and succeeded in part. The punctuality of the scholars in this school is worthy of note here and of imitation everywhere.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Mrs. Lenie S. Mason taught this school for the year with the best of results. Mrs. Mason is very quiet in her work and she keeps good order in her schools. This was not her first work in town as a teacher. She taught the school in district No. 7 the last term last year, as also in No. 8 the year before. The classes in arithmetic and geography did very well, the class in history not quite so well. The examinations for the winter term were conducted two weeks before they were expected to be on account of measles breaking out in the school. The pupils did well considering they did not have any time for review.

DISTRICT NO. 6. PRIMARY.

Miss Emma F. Goodhue of Derry has had charge of this school for the whole year and has done a good work. This is in some respects the most difficult school in town, but it is believed by all concerned that the right teacher has had charge of the work this year. Miss Goodhue has the faculty of winning the love of her school, and rules among them more by love than by fear. The classes have without an exception done good work and the examinations have been satisfactory to all present. One very pleasant feature in the examinations of this school is the large number of the parents and citizens who are always present. The most difficult part of the work of this school is to keep order among so many little ones. Great credit is due to Mr. Wells, the faithful and efficient committee of this district, for his untiring devotion to his work.

DISTRICT NO. 6. GRAMMAR.

The first term of this school was taught by Miss Belle D. McGregor of Derry, N. H. She was a good teacher and well qualified to teach and gave good satisfaction. It was hoped and expected at the close of the first term that she would return in the fall. The school made good progress under her teaching. She did not choose to return however, and Miss Georgia A. Brown was engaged to take her place. Miss Brown is in many respects a superior teacher. She thoroughly understands every part of her work. She moves among her pupils with gentleness, but with firmness. She maintains the most perfect order in her school. The examinations at the close of the fall term did credit to both pupils and teacher, one class had been drilled for the whole term on "fractions" and they had thoroughly mastered the subject. The same class is being drilled on the subject of "interest" this term. Other classes are worthy of mention but space will not admit. The winter term has not closed at the writing of this report, some sixty dollars having been contributed by the district to lengthen the term.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Miss Ida F. Thom of Salem, taught both terms of this school. It was her first effort at teaching, but she gave good satisfaction in the district. This is the smallest school but one in numbers in town. The scholars with one or two exceptions are small, and are not very far advanced in their studies. The children seemed to lack interest in their work. The order in the school was fair and the answers to questions in some of the classes good. Miss Thom bids fair if she continues to teach, to do good work.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

The school in this district was taught by Miss Nellie L. Coburn of Methuen, Mass. This was her first school, but she showed by her work that she intended to do good work. The order in the school was not what it should have been. The teacher lacked authority and the scholars were not slow to take advantage of that lack. This was more apparent during the first term than the second. The order was much improved, and some of the classes made good progress in their studies. The examination at the close of the last term was good and showed marked improvement.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Miss Lucy C. Martin of Haverhill, Mass., was engaged to teach this school for the first term, but after teaching one week she was taken sick and was not able to resume her work, so this school really had but one term this year. In the fall Miss Caroline J. Crosby of Methuen, Mass., was engaged to teach and she taught twenty weeks with only a recess of one week. This is the smallest school in town as to numbers, but no school in town showed more improvement during the year than this one. One little boy only seven years old, Frankie D. Hoyt, in his examination in geography answered seventy-eight questions without missing one, and his answers to questions in Colburn's arithmetic were equally good. All the classes did well.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Miss Lizzie D. Hartford of Manchester, taught this pleasant little school both terms with satisfaction to parents and profit to the scholars. Good order was maintained in the school and promptness and accuracy characterized all the examinations. In this school may be found some of the best readers in town. Appended is roll of honor and statistics.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. C. BARTLETT.

Superintendent of schools in Salem, N. H.
